

I urge the FCC not to decrease competition in the area of independent ISP providers. Verizon has petitioned to change the regulatory landscape in such a way that small ISP providers would would ultimately fail to flourish. Competition is always good for price and diversity.